ISIS, the Mother of All Beings, offers these words of wisdom

These are the words of ISIS (channelled by Fotoula Adrimi)

The chaos that you see out in the world, reflects the chaos that is within you. Chaos is part of the state of duality and the experience of human life.

Life is asking you to become aware of the states of chaos that you experience. Notice how these states can take you out of your centredness. As you attach to them, they pull you away from yourself.

The forces of chaos in the world of duality work through the conditioning of the mind - the programming that has been around the Earth for thousands of years. This programming keeps re-creating itself and embedding into the body and mind. If you could energetically view your being, you would see the energy codes of the programming. These codes work through your emotions.

When something happens and attracts your attention, the programming tells your mind what to think, your body how to feel and, in many cases, how you should act. For most people this is an unconscious process, as few question their mind or the code.

To change the codes of the programming you need to work energetically as well as mindfully, and connect with expansive states of consciousness that give you access to the higher vibrational energies of light, and the wisdom of your spirit.

In the meditation practice in last month's Newsletter, I shared with you a way of getting in touch with your higher Self, in order to ask your eternal spirit two important questions. These questions were:

- How do I serve the whole?
- How do I serve myself?

To contact [The ISIS School](http://The ISIS School) or join the mailing list and receive the monthly newsletter, please email: info@isis-school.com

The same process can be repeated. You can ask your higher Self, or eternal spirit, to dissolve the codes of the programming that no longer serve you. This is a very individual process, as people will have different patterns that predominate. Everyone shares the same collective consciousness, but each of you chooses to experience key karmic teachings in your life.

Practice 2: Connecting with your Infinite Spirit and Sacred Geometry

- 1) Open your sacred space in your usual way. You may smudge, chant, or use a singing bowl to clear the energy. Invite in your helping spirits that work fully for the light to assist you in this practice.
- 2) Intend to connect with your seventh chakra, the crown chakra, at the top of your head. Imagine that the chakra is in the shape of a cone or a mountain, in a similar way to a Buddha statue (see picture).
- 3) On top of the mountain is an incredible star formation. From it, light, colour, and sacred sound emanate.
- 4) As you connect to the chakra, the sacred sound, light and colour flows down into your body and aura.
- 5) Now sing, in your own way, the sound of the vowel 'a' three times (as in apple). As a result of your singing the seed/origin of the sound that lies within the star formation on top of the crown chakra is activated, and energy flows into your body.
- 6) Sing the rest of the vowel sounds once to activate their seeds. Sing 'e' - as in echo; 'i' - as in e-book; 'o' - as in orange; 'u' - as in oodles. As you sing, the sounds and respective colour vibrations surround the star formation.
- 7) Within the star formation, a pyramidal structure is formed. Inside the structure is the essence of your higher Self. In your sacred space intend to connect with the infinite spirit that you are. As a result of your intention, the energy from your higher Self flows into your body and aura.
- 8) Now ask your higher Self - show me the codes of the programming that create disharmony in my life and how it operates. Receive a download from your higher Self in the form of etheric energy and knowledge.
- 9) As you begin the process of understanding the workings of this code, say to your higher Self, "I thank you for making me conscious of what this code has created in my life. I now ask this code to be replaced by the seed of the enlightened wisdom mind. May I be aware. May I be awake. May I receive the activation of the inner knowledge that exists within me."

- 10) Your higher Self now sends a download of energy into your body to open you up to your inner wisdom. As you receive this energy, it starts to spread like a fire of light that uproots, burns away and clears the old codes. At the end of the process the seed of wisdom emerges inside your heart centre. Stay in this state for 15 minutes.
- 11) The pyramidal structure and surrounding star formation then transform into light, and form a ball of light. The ball radiates a subtle energy all around you and your aura.
- 12) When you are ready, gently bring yourself back from the practice, by slowly becoming aware of the room around you and your physical body. Give thanks to your higher Self, your infinite spirit. Thank your spirit helpers and release them, asking that before they go they completely seal and protect yourself and your room.

You can repeat this practice as often as you feel you need to.

Spirit Shamans - The Shamanic Ancestors

When we open up to the shamanic ways, it is typical to encounter spirit beings who belong to different shamanic traditions. In Fotoula's first shamanic journey she met a Native American shaman who was sitting outside a teepee. The shaman took Fotoula for a walk along a desert plateau and spoke to her about her life and the choices she had made that led her to this moment. He explained about 'the spirit medicine path' (his words).

Many of the spirit shamans who come forward to help shamanic practitioners have lived a human life. Rather than move on in the spirit realms, part of them has chosen to stay behind and continue their work in the alternative reality, teaching anyone who wishes to learn these ways. This is not the same as soul loss, as this part that remains is fully conscious of their choice.

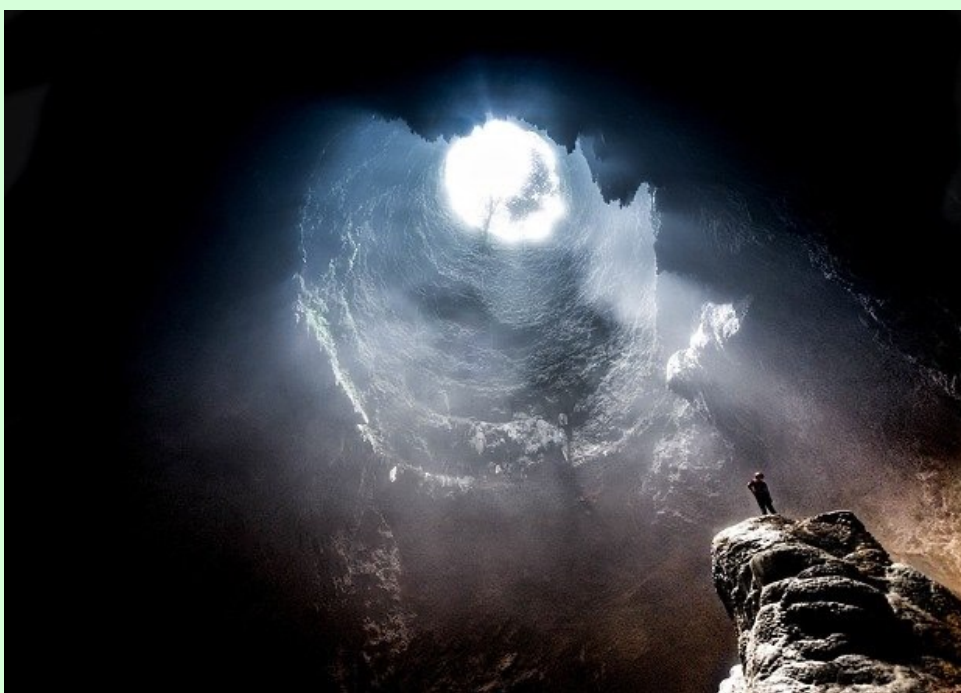

The spirit shamans are not interested in which culture we are from, our background or our knowledge. Our vibration and level of consciousness attracts the right teacher to us for a period of time. As we evolve spiritually, our spirit teacher may change. We have graduated from one class and another teacher comes to work with us in the next stage of our learning. When this happens it is important to thank the spirit helper who is leaving and not be attached to them. We let them go with gratitude and continue on our path.

One way to meet the spirit teachers is to journey to the cave of the ancestors. This is a place where we can go and re-affirm our wish to work with them. The ancestors work through unconditional love. They are full of compassion and understand the complexities and challenges of human life. They wish to help us develop a deep connection with ourselves, the Earth and the All That Is. They say that when we do this, we will discover our inner beauty and the beauty and joy of life.

Journeying to the Cave of the Shamanic Ancestors

Smudge yourself and your room with sage or incense and create your sacred space. If you wish you can create a small altar. On the altar have a representation of the four elements (wind/air - incense, water, fire - candle, earth - stones or crystals). (For more information on how to create a shamanic altar see Fotoula's book, The Golden Book of Wisdom, chapter 9: The Spirit World: Lifting the Veil).

Call in the Divine, in whatever way you understand this, and ask the Divine to support you in your journey. State your intention to journey for the highest good to the cave of the shamanic ancestors to seek help and guidance to walk your shamanic path.

You can sing a song, rattle or drum or simply whistle. Your voice and the drumming and rattling create sound waves that increase the vibration of the energy around you, and open your energy field to the shamanic energies. After a while you can play a shamanic drumming track as you sit or lie down and journey to the cave of the ancestors. (Alternatively you can journey in silence).

In the journey you will find yourself in one of the direction poles of the Earth where this place exists. In this place you will be greeted by one of the guardians. When you meet them, re-affirm your intention to learn the shamanic ways from the ancestors. The guardian will cleanse your aura and take you inside the cave by a fire where the ancestors wait for you.

Stay with the ancestors as they come to speak to you. One of them may be your main shamanic spirit teacher. You may feel your body expanding as your vibration changes. A resonance is built between you and the helping spirit so that you can work together easily. Sometimes, you may experience a merging with your spirit helper that takes place in your physical body. If this happens, relax in the process. The spirit helper is connecting to you at a deeper level through the merging. As the journey continues you may see, hear or know that information is being imparted to you.

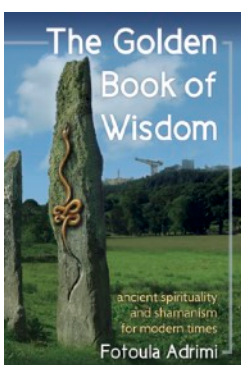

At the end the spirit teachers step away. When they do thank them for all their help and their invaluable contribution to you and the people on Earth who wish to walk a spiritual path.

Then retrace your steps. See yourself leaving the cave of the ancestors and coming back to your own reality, gently and slowly. Drink some of the water from the altar and also offer what remains to the Earth, either out in nature or to your house plants.

Once more thank all your helping spirits and release them. Ask that before they go they completely protect and seal you, your sacred space and home.

After the journey make a note of all that happened - how you felt, what information you were given. And re-affirm your commitment to work with the ancestors. In the days following the journey look for signs from spirit in nature, dreams and in your everyday life that your helpers are around you, walking with you. And note them in your journal.
